

Physician Services

Doctors working through LocumTenens.com's full-service agency enjoy freedom from many administrative details of independent contracting, including:

- Filling out forms—our Credentialing Warehouse populates scanned forms using verified data supplied by the physicians
- Negotiating contracts with hospitals or medical groups
- Purchasing comprehensive malpractice insurance
- Getting licensed in a new state
- Getting credentialed at the assigned medical facility
- Arranging transportation to/from the assignment
- Securing housing during the assignment
- Billing for services
- Depositing paychecks into designated bank accounts.

Through its Web site, LocumTenens.com provides career resources for physicians including:

- Secure, anonymous communication with prospective employers through proprietary IDProtect technology
- Online curriculum vitae (CV) builder
- Confidential, real-time searching among hundreds of physician and CRNA jobs
- Job-search notification based on user-specified criteria
- Career Center featuring salary data and trends in the company's practice specialties (anesthesiology, radiology, psychiatry and surgery).

Assistance Finding Health or Life Insurance

Federal tax laws regarding contractors prevent us from providing paid health insurance benefits for our providers. So LocumTenens.com coordinates with Premier Financial Group to offer health and life insurance through a selection of reputable carriers.

Physicians just complete the online application for either life or health insurance to get hundreds of quotes. Premier follows up by phone to answer questions and help them assess coverage options.

Lifestyle Options

Today working locum tenens is more than just a way to earn income between permanent positions, or when another doctor takes leave or vacation. For an increasing number of doctors, it's a way of life.

With a number of medical specialists in short supply, many physicians enjoy the lifestyle of working in temporary assignments on a full-time basis. (The industry estimates this to be more than a quarter of all doctors working locum tenens.) We supply malpractice insurance and take care of most of the business aspects of practicing medicine. This lets locum tenens physicians focus on providing the best care possible for their patients.
